

Topic Proposal: Call for Submissions

ISOQOL will hold a Measuring What Matters Symposium annually and is currently seeking topic proposals for a July 2020 symposium in Washington, D.C.

Topics may be a particular application (e.g., Measuring What Matters in Clinical Practice) or a specific disease area (e.g., Measuring What Matters in Cardiology) or a particular population (e.g., Measuring What Matters in Children) or a combination of the three. Thank you for helping ISOQOL identify and address topics of importance to our members and the field. View the agendas and organization of the past two symposia here: <http://www.isoqol.org/education-events/past-events#Symposia>

To submit a topic proposal for Measuring What Matters, please complete the online form in full by 11 February 2019.

<https://www.eventsforce.net/mwm20proposal>

Commitment of symposium co-chairs

- 18 months of planning calls with ISOQOL staff:
  - Monthly calls for the first six months
  - Bi-weekly calls for the final 12 months
- Working with ISOQOL Staff, co-chairs are responsible for sourcing speakers/presenters, developing the curriculum, and leading teleconferences with symposium speakers.

Please direct questions about your proposal to ISOQOL Meetings Manager Marina Shawd at mshawd@isoqol.org.

• • •

Topic Proposal Questions

To aid in planning your submission, below are the questions requested as part of the symposium topic proposal.

Submitter and Co-Chair Details

- Submitter(s) Name, Title, Affiliation
- Names and email addresses of two proposed symposium co-chairs:
Co-chairs must be current ISOQOL members.

Continued on page 2

Topic/Theme Information

- Proposed topic/theme:
- Does the topic/theme address a particular disease/therapeutic area? Yes/No
  - If so, please describe the disease/therapeutic area that your topic/theme aims to address: (e.g., cancer, neurology, etc.)
- Which applications does the topic/theme address? (select all that apply)
  - Clinical practice
  - Clinical Trials
  - Quality Assessment/Improvement
  - Population Health
  - Other (please describe)
- Intended audience(s): (select all that apply)
  - Academics
  - Clinicians
  - Consultants
  - Industry
  - Patients
  - Trialists
- Why is “Measuring What Matters” important for this topic/theme? (100 word limit)
- Symposium synopsis: (500 word limit)

Symposium Organization

- List names and affiliations of the speakers you intend to invite
- Describe how the symposium will be organized: (e.g., plenaries, break-outs, case studies; general organization of the meeting): (500 word limit)
- Proposed Number of Sessions (1-5)
- Provide a title, description and objective(s) for each of the proposed sessions, based on the number you selected above.

Please direct questions about your proposal to ISOQOL Meetings Manager Marina Shawd at mshawd@isoqol.org.