Welcome

Dear Colleagues,
A city which, through its multi-cultural nature and high ranking amongst the cities with the best quality of life, seems like a fitting place to host ISOQOL 2007. Welcome.

The theme of the 2007 meeting is how methods in quality of life research can bridge from measurement to understanding. Much of the focus of quality of life research to date has focused on measurement of this important construct. In this meeting, we would like to push this a bit towards the understanding of quality of life research. You will see topics on the role of theoretical frameworks in our work, approaches being undertaken to improve the interpretation and application of quality of life results, and the challenges of doing quality of life research in non-mainstream populations.

The conference is in the heart of our city. Next door to the brand new opera (Don Carlos and Marriage of Figaro are playing) and ballet centre, connected by tunnels or an easy stroll to the Eaton Centre for shopping, and central to the theatre and urban city life. Visit the Sheraton’s concierge or the link posted on the ISOQOL website to plan additional activities for your stay in Toronto.

Of course what trip to Canada would be complete without hockey. Although not our official national sport, hockey is likely the most popular sport. Where there is ice, there is ice hockey, and as the ponds and rinks around the city melt, kids move to the streets and play street hockey. At ISOQOL we will be letting you experience the thrill of hockey first hand! We will have our final banquet at a very participatory venue – the hockey hall of fame. You will see the Stanley Cup as we give out the awards, and will then roll up your sleeves and pick up a stick to have your slapshot timed in one of their many interactive displays.

About ISOQOL

ISOQOL Mission
The scientific study of Quality of Life relevant to health and healthcare is the mission of the International Society for Quality of Life Research (ISOQOL). The Society promotes the rigorous investigation of health-related quality of life measurement from conceptualization to application and practice. ISOQOL fosters the worldwide exchange of information through:

• Scientific Publications
• Educational Outreach
• International Conferences
• Collaborative Support for HRQOL Initiatives

ISOQOL Special Interest Groups
Special Interest Groups have been established to facilitate communications between researchers with specific interests, ranging from methodology (e.g. clinical applications; cross-cultural research and translation methods), to applications of QoL in particular populations (e.g. HIV/AIDS). For more information and to join a Special Interest Group, visit our website at www.isoqol.org.

ISOQOL Committees
ISOQOL members are encouraged to serve on the following committees and subcommittees:

• Membership
• Communications: Newsletter, Website
• Finances and Budget Planning: Fundraising and Grantwriting
• Education: Scholarship and Training, Policy Guidelines, Conferences and Workshops, and Scientific Program
General Information

Conference Venue
All plenary, invited, oral & poster sessions and training workshops will take place at the Sheraton Centre Toronto on the Lower Concourse, Mezzanine and Second Floor. See page 67 for the hotel floor plan.

Registration
Registration fees include: participation in the Conference and access to the exhibition area; abstracts and program; certificate of attendance; Welcome Reception on Wednesday, October 10; refreshments/coffee breaks on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 11 - 13; and lunch on Friday for those who attend the Business Meeting. Workshop registration is separate from the regular conference registration, and requires a separate fee. If you have registered for a workshop (or two), there will be a label on your registration envelope which will indicate which workshop(s) you are scheduled to attend. There may be limited availability if you would like to sign up on-site for a workshop – please visit the ISOQOL Registration Desk in the Grand Ballroom Foyer on the Lower Concourse Level for more information.

Opening Reception (Wednesday, October 10, 5:00 - 6:00 pm)
An opening reception will be held in the Grand Ballroom East/Foyer. Start the meeting by visiting old friends and meeting new colleagues.

Mentor/Mentee Reception (Thursday, October 11, 6:30 - 7:30 pm)
ISOQOL’s Mentor/Mentee program of matching New Investigators with Mentors in the QOL field will have a meeting on Thursday, October 11th at 6:30 pm in the Simcoe+Dufferin Room (rooms 10&11 on Floor Plan, page 67) located on the Second Floor of the hotel. If you are a New Investigator but did not sign up for this program in advance, and are interested in meeting with a Mentor from ISOQOL, or if you are interested in being a Mentor, please plan to attend and we will do our best to match you with a mentor or mentee.

Annual Business Meeting (Friday, October 12, 12:30 - 2:00 pm)
This lunch session will include brief updates from the ISOQOL Leadership regarding the previous year’s activities, plans for the upcoming year, and we will have an open discussion about how the Society can serve you, and how you can help the Society through direct involvement. ISOQOL encourages everyone, whether you are currently a member or not, to attend this session. This is a great opportunity to learn more about what ISOQOL has to offer you, as well as brainstorm new initiatives that will better serve you. If you have pre-registered for this lunch, you will have a luncheon voucher in your registration materials – please return it to ISOQOL Registration Desk by 4:00 pm on Thursday, October 11, to receive your luncheon ticket. If you have not yet registered for this lunch, please visit the ISOQOL Registration Desk by 4:00pm on Thursday to sign up. There is no cost to attend.

ISOQOL Employment Exchange Program
For the sixth year, ISOQOL will have the Employment Exchange program. The program allows institutions to post job opportunities, and qualified applicants looking for employment to post their resume during the meeting. A notebook with job announcements and resumes will be located near the ISOQOL membership table. Please feel free to insert your resume or job opening. If you know a colleague who might have job openings for individuals interested in the quality of life area, they too can submit, as long as they designate you as the contact during the meeting so that candidates may get more information if needed.

Poster Sessions
The Poster Sessions will take place in the Grand Ballroom Foyer area on the Lower Concourse Level. Each poster has been assigned a specific number, which can be found in the program just before the abstract title. Each poster station will be numbered—please mount your poster at the correct poster number/station.

Conference Dinner (Saturday, October 13, 7:00)
A conference dinner will be held on Saturday, October 13th at 7:00 pm at the Hockey Hall of Fame. Please see Meeting Registration Desk for directions.

The Awards and Closing Ceremony will also be held at this time. The conference dinner is not included in the registration fee. Unless a ticket was purchased in advance, the additional on-site fee is $95US for conference attendees and $100US for a guest.

The organizer reserves the right to cancel events. In the unlikely event of cancellation, the admission charge will be refunded or transferred to another event chosen by the delegate. No other claim will be accepted.

Scientific Awards
ISOQOL presents prestigious Annual Awards honoring individuals in different categories. ISOQOL is committed to promoting excellence in quality of life research. Therefore, the New Investigator and Student Awards will be presented during the Saturday conference dinner. These awards recognize the best overall oral and poster presentations made by full-time students and investigators in the early stages of their career in QOL research.

The President’s Award is given to someone who has advanced QLR and has made outstanding contributions to ISOQOL in one or more of the following areas: education of professionals, patients or lay individuals about HRQOL’s value; promotion or execution of HRQOL or other scholarly activities; and facilitating or furthering policy initiatives that have an impact on HRQOL. The awardee is selected by the Executive Committee and endorsed by the Board. Individuals who excel in one or more of the named areas may be nominated by a colleague, student or friend.

This year’s President’s Award goes to Dennis Revicki of the USA. The presentation will take place during the Closing Ceremony on Saturday, October 13th.

ISOQOL presents the Outstanding Article of the Year Award to recognize and honor the single best article dedicated to health-related quality of life (HRQL) research that was published in Quality of Life Research journal during the previous calendar year. This award recognizes the author(s) for significant intellectual contributions that promise to advance the state of the art in HRQL research methods or theory. The presentation will take place during the Closing Ceremony on Saturday, October 13th.
Program Schedule

Wednesday, October 11

7:30am
Workshop Registration
Mezzanine Level Foyer

9:30am-12:30pm
Morning Workshops

Workshop 1
Methods for Cross-Cultural Development, Translation/ Adaptation, and Evaluation of Health Outcomes Measures
Windsor West
Instructors: Sonya Eremenco, Evanston Northwestern Healthcare/Northwestern University, USA and Ramona Lucas, Universitat Autonoma de Barcelona, Spain

Cross-cultural translation of existing instruments has become an essential component of research methodology in preparation for multinational clinical trials. However, to improve cross-cultural equivalence, it is important to incorporate an awareness of cross-cultural issues prior to beginning translation work. This workshop will cover: 1) cross-cultural instrument development including a comparison of sequential, parallel, and simultaneous approaches with a special focus on WHOQOL methods; 2) types of cross-cultural equivalence and possible threats to validity if equivalence is not achieved; 3) instrument translation and adaptation methodologies; 4) use of qualitative evaluation methods such as cognitive interviewing techniques to assess linguistic validity and cross-cultural equivalence of translated questionnaires. Finally, we will discuss strategies to use to improve equivalence, such as the decentered model to refine the source instrument and alternatives when modification of the original instrument is not feasible. Workshop structure includes 65% lecture, 25% Q&A and 10% interactive exercises on translation methodology and cognitive interviewing.
Level: Basic

Workshop 2
Coping with the Validation Requirements of the FDA PRO Guidance: The Intersection of Science and Practice
Conference Room F
Instructors: William Lenderking, Michelle Stewart, Pfizer Inc, USA and Elizabeth Merikle, Pfizer Inc, Canada

This workshop will take off from the draft PRO guidance and consider the practical implications and scientific evidence supporting certain aspects of the guidance. In particular, we will focus on validation of patient reported outcome measures in light of the guidance on conceptual frameworks, conceptual models, and endpoint models. We will also consider the scientific evidence for the recommendations around the recall period. Practical, real-world examples/research dilemmas will be presented for discussion, and we will consider alternative solutions, as well as discussing the solution ultimately chosen. Questions to be considered include the following: What does the literature say about validation requirements for a scale that has been in use for decades but has obvious limitations? What constitutes sufficient validation? If a scale has been validated in a given study population, what are the validation requirements for applying it to a new population, according to both the FDA and the literature? What if your research team wants to administer a questionnaire on a weekly basis, and it has only been previously developed for monthly administration? Are there different aspects of health and functioning which might be optimally measured over different recall periods? Can measures with different recall periods be compared within the same study? Does it make sense to assess functioning on a daily basis, or should daily measurement be more appropriately reserved for symptoms?
Level: Basic

Workshop 3
Capturing Patient-Reported Outcomes Electronically: From E-Pro Design to Implementation
Conference Room E
Instructors: Kellee Howard, Jennifer Petrillo, United BioSource Corporation, USA, Jacqueline Thong, CRF, Inc., USA, Meghan Werner and Nancy Kline Leidy, United BioSource Corporation, USA

With rapid improvements in technology comes the opportunity to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of gathering patient-reported outcomes (PROs) by electronically capturing these data. E-PROs involve a variety of techniques, including personal digital assistants (PDAs), interactive voice response systems (IVRS), and computer touch screens, each offering unique opportunities and challenges. This workshop will address critical issues in e-PROs, including selection of the appropriate technology, instrument development and validation, and the execution of studies involving e-technologies. We will give specific attention to the use of PDAs for gathering quality of life, symptom, and other data during random, daily, or weekly assessments in keeping with the recall needs of the underlying concept being measured.
During the first portion of the workshop, moderators will lead participants in a discussion of the following issues: types of concepts most and least suited to e-data capture, unique features of each format, the development or revision of instruments for use on PDAs, and the type and timing of data to track study progress and contribute to instrument evaluation. Item development, cognitive debriefing, and scoring options for e-PRO using PDAs will be addressed, as well issues related to patient and site training to optimize data quality. Examples from the literature, the field, and experience with the EXACT-PRO Initiative(1) will inform the discussion. During the second portion of the workshop, participants will be involved in a practical application of ePRO-PDA development and will engage in hands-on experience using PDAs pre-programmed with a variety of question formats suitable for e-PRO data capture.

(1) The EXAcerbations of Chronic pulmonary disease Tool - The EXACT-PRO Initiative brings together industry, clinical, and regulatory (FDA) experts to develop a single PRO measure to evaluate exacerbations of COPD.

Level: Basic

Workshop 4

Specifying Patient-Reported Outcome Measures for Chronic Disease Self-Management Programs: A Framework to Ensure the Right Outcomes are Assessed at the Right Time

Conference Room D

Instructor: Richard Osborne, The University of Melbourne, Australia

The choice of the right range of measures to capture the intended and unintended effects of interventions can be difficult for researchers and evaluators alike. With the plethora of measures available and the wide range of possible intended impacts of interventions, including immediate and long term effects, a framework to support comprehensive assessment is warranted. This workshop will focus on chronic disease self-management and education programs as a working example of how to specify what needs to be measured and how this can be done. Such programs may have a wide range of immediate impacts (e.g., education/knowledge), intermediate impacts (e.g., empowerment, life quality) and longer term impacts (e.g., use of health services, reduction of symptoms). Poor understanding and poor specification of the objective of an intervention leads to poor outcome measurement. Without a clear idea of what you are measuring, how can you measure it accurately? Consider social comparison, learning, changes in self image and the resulting change in perception (or response shift) which may attenuate participants’ perceptions of disease severity. The workshop will include insights derived from the heiQ (Health Education Impact Questionnaire), the National Quality and Monitoring System for chronic disease health education and self-management programs now applied in 250+ organizations across disease groups and intervention types.

In a high energy, fast moving and participatory workshop setting, attendees are encouraged to bring their current chronic disease program to the workshop for work-shopping so that the intended impact of their program can be clarified and a range of pertinent patient reported outcomes can be specified. Level: Basic

Applications of Item Response Theory Modeling for Improving Health Outcomes Measurement - Part I

Conference Room C

Instructors: Bryce Reeve, National Cancer Institute, USA and Chih-Hung Chang, Northwestern University, USA

There is a great need in health outcomes research to develop instruments or assessment tools that can accurately measure a person’s health status with minimal response burden. This need for psychometrically sound and clinically meaningful measures calls for better analytical tools beyond the methods available from traditional measurement theory. Applications of item response theory (IRT) modeling have increased considerably because of its utility for instrument development and evaluation, assessment of measurement equivalence, instrument linking, item banking, and computerized adaptive testing. IRT models the relationship, in probabilistic terms, between a person’s response to a survey question and their standing on a health construct (e.g., fatigue or depression) being measured. Poor understanding and poor specification of the objective of an intervention leads to poor outcome measurement. Without a clear idea of what you are measuring, how can you measure it accurately? Consider social comparison, learning, changes in self image and the resulting change in perception (or response shift) which may attenuate participants’ perceptions of disease severity. The workshop will include insights derived from the heiQ (Health Education Impact Questionnaire), the National Quality and Monitoring System for chronic disease health education and self-management programs now applied in 250+ organizations across disease groups and intervention types.

This introductory workshop will discuss the basics of IRT models and applications of these models to improve health outcomes measurement. Illustrations from empirical data will be used throughout the presentation that focuses on measuring key health-related quality of life domains in different disease populations. Level: Basic

Analysis of Longitudinal Studies of HRQOL Studies

Conference Room G

Instructor: Diane Fairclough, University of Colorado Health Sciences Center, USA

This course will provide an introduction to the analysis of longitudinal studies in which missing data can be considered ignorable or missing at random (MAR). We will describe strategies for distinguishing between repeated measures models and growth curve models. Examples will be given for building and testing hypotheses for both simple and complex models including strategies for inclusion of time-varying covariates and interaction. We will discuss the use of polynomial and piecewise linear models as well as covariance structures and their interpretation. Then we will discuss models were missingness is assumed to be MAR conditional on auxiliary information. Finally we will discuss the concepts of moderation and mediation, and how to construct the appropriate models and tests. Handouts will include all slides. The workshop will include discussion (20% of time).

After completing this workshop, participants will be able to:
1. Choose between a repeated measures and growth curve model for the analysis of longitudinal data
2. Build models and construct hypothesis tests for both simple and complex models
Wednesday - Workshops

3. Perform sensitivity analysis which incorporate ancillary information into the longitudinal models
4. Distinguish the concepts of moderation and mediations, set up the appropriate models for these concepts.
Participants should have experience with regression analysis.  Level: Advanced

Workshop 7
Advanced Psychometric Methods, Part 1: Use of Exploratory and Confirmatory Factor Analyses in PRO Instrument Development and Evaluation

Windsor East

Instructors: Dennis Revicki and Donald Stull, United BioSource Corporation, USA

The development and psychometric evaluation of PRO instruments requires the application of a number of different techniques, including exploratory and confirmatory factor analysis (FA). We will provide a brief overview of psychometric analyses and then focus on the application of exploratory and confirmatory factor analysis for understanding of new measures and use of Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) for testing construct validity. Exploratory and confirmatory FA can be used to examine the relationships among items with a PRO measure or among different domains or multiple PRO measures. These techniques are useful for understanding the internal structure of PRO instruments and for understanding construct validity. This workshop will describe the main methods of FA and illustrate these methods with examples from the instrument development literature. SEM is a powerful analytic technique that combines FA and path analysis in a simultaneous, confirmatory approach. Using SEM, the researcher can specify and evaluate hypothesized relationships between observed and latent (unobserved) constructs as well as relationships among the latent variables. SEM can also estimate the reliability and validity of measurement models while explicitly modeling measurement error. A researcher constructs a structural model which specifies relationships among the latent variables to examine construct and criterion-related validity. If the observed covariances are consistent with the model-implied covariances, the researcher has evidence supporting the construct validity of the PRO measure. This workshop will demonstrate the main methods, testing assumptions and criteria, and provide examples to illustrate the methods of SEM.  Level: Advanced

Workshop 8
Interpreting Utility (Preference-Based) Measures of Health-Related Quality of Life

Conference Room B

Instructors: David Feeny, Kaiser Permanente, Northwest Region, USA, George Torrance, i3 Innovus, Canada, William Furlong and John Horsman, McMaster University, Canada

The Workshop will be at an advanced level, focusing on the interpretation of utility scores from direct and multi-attribute (indirect) approaches to measurement. The direct approaches will include the visual analogue scale (Feeling Thermometer), time tradeoff, and standard gamble. Major multi-attribute utility measures will include the EQ-5D, Health Utilities Index (HUI), and Short-Form 6D. In addition, recent work on disease-specific utility instruments will be presented. The Workshop will include hands-on experience in the direct assessment of utility scores, completing questionnaires from several systems, and analyzing and interpreting the results. The interpretation of scores will be considered in the context of comparing groups at a point in time as well as comparing within-person change over time. Applications will be drawn from diverse settings including osteoarthritis of the knee, multiple sclerosis, total hip arthroplasty, and acute lymphoblastic leukemia. Evidence on clinically important differences will be discussed. Attendees should, at a minimum, have a basic knowledge of the conceptual foundations and practical approaches of the utility approach to assessing health-related quality of life.  Level: Advanced

12:30pm-1:30pm
Lunch on your own

1:30pm-4:30pm
Afternoon Workshops

Workshop 9
Methods for Developing Preference-Based Measures of Health

Conference Room B

Instructors: John Brazier, Tracy Young and Katherine Stevens, The University of Sheffield, UK

Recent years has seen increasing reliance on a few generic preference-based measures of health (e.g. EQ-5D, HUI3, QWB or SF-6D) for calculating Quality Adjusted Life Years (QALYs) for economic evaluation. However, generics measures may not be used in key clinical studies.  This may be due to a desire to reduce patient burden or a view that generic instruments are not valid for the condition or responsive to the effects of treatment. For these reasons there is interest in developing new preference-based measures of health. This workshop focuses on the development of the health state classification of a preference-based measure rather than the other stages of valuing a sample of states and modelling the health state values. The workshop offers a practical introduction to the use of qualitative and psychometric methods in the development and refinement of health state classifications. It will also examine the policy implications of using different descriptive systems to derive preference-based measures. It assumes a basic knowledge HRQoL measurement and QALYs.

There will be four brief presentations:
1. An introduction: rationale and overview
2. The use of qualitative methods to develop a health state classification
3. The use of psychometric methods (including Rasch analysis) to develop a health state classification amenable to valuation
4. Policy implications of using different descriptive systems to estimate preference-based measures of health.

These presentations will use practical examples throughout. Organisation of workshop: 60% will be composed of these four brief presentations on each of these topics, 40% for discussion of the presentations and general Q&A. Workshop 10
Advancements in the Theory and Practical Application of Response Shift (RS)
Windsor West
Instructors: Lena Ring, Upssala University, Sweden, Sara Ahmed, McGill University, Canada, Carolyn Schwartz, Delta Quest Foundation, USA, Mirjam Sprangers, Academic Medical Center/University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands and Richard Osborne, University of Melbourne, Australia

This workshop will have a balance between the theoretical underpinnings of RS, the alternative methods of revealing the presence of RS, and the practical applications in the research setting. Special attention will be paid to how RS might confound measurement or be a key indicator of an intervention effect.

A variety of techniques are available to identify RS, these include open interviews, structured interviews using the then test, pen and paper questionnaires and through statistical procedures. The pros and cons of these will be outlined, drawing heavily on workshop participant's current experiences and future research needs. Case studies will be used throughout the workshop to help participants walk through the thinking process patients go through when responding to health status questionnaires and to understand how response shift may come into play.

Workshop 11
Migrating Paper Patient Reported Outcomes (PRO) to Electronic Patient Reported Outcomes (EPRO) in the Context of the FDA’S PRO Guidance
Conference Room D
Instructor: James Pierce, ClinPhone, USA

Patient-reported outcome (PRO) assessments play important roles in many clinical trials. The FDA has issued a draft PRO Guidance intended to describe how PRO instruments will be evaluated in terms of their appropriateness and adequacy as efficacy endpoints in clinical trials. In addition, the draft Guidance states that modified PRO instruments will be reviewed by the agency to determine if the changes have been adequately justified and whether sufficient evidence exists that the changes have not introduced response bias. Most PRO instruments have been developed for paper administration, but there is increasing recognition of the many advantages of electronic data capture (i.e., ePRO). Therefore, administering an initially paper-based PRO instrument on an electronic platform is considered an instrument modification, which must be justified by the sponsor. The goal of this session is to review the scientific and practical implications of migrating PRO instruments to ePROs in light of the draft Guidance. Our speakers spotlight typical ePRO migration scenarios and offer suggestions on how to meet the scientific and regulatory expectations of each. The speakers will consider the practical, psychometric, statistical, and regulatory issues involved in migrating PRO instruments developed and validated on paper to electronic platforms. Workshop 12
Decision Making and Quality of Life
Conference Room F
Instructors: Penny Pierce, Patricia Hershberger, Anne Thomas, Cynthia Arslanian-Engoren, University of Michigan, USA

Decision making is a complex and dynamic human endeavor made evermore difficult when facing a potentially life-threatening illness for which one must choose from among an array of unfamiliar options. Sometimes a decision leads to a good outcome and other times an unwanted and untoward outcome creates havoc and disrupts one’s psychological equilibrium in pervasive ways. The linkage between decision behavior and the outcomes of one’s decisions ultimately defines those features we call quality of life. Yet this relationship between decision making and quality of life is a relatively unexplored area of investigation. This workshop will give an overview of the state of the science in patient decision making identifying the critical features instrumental in influencing the appraisal of quality of life. Specifically, the workshop will present a discussion of potential pre-decision hazards (e.g., satisficing), the elicitation of preferences and values, relevant psychological processes (e.g., affective forecasting), and executive cognitive functions that influence decision outcomes, which in turn, play an important role in the features holistically characterized as quality of life. An emphasis will be placed on identifying relevant measures and methods used to capture these sometimes elusive human experiences that are involved in making decisions which may inextricably change the course of one’s life as well as the personal appraisal of one’s quality of life. The importance of understanding the decision making process lies in targeting areas where structured interventions could be tailored to improve health care decisions thereby enhancing the likelihood of post-decision satisfaction, psychological well being and a desirable quality of life. Workshop 14
Applications of Item Response Theory Modeling for Improving Health Outcomes Measurement - Part II
Conference Room C
Instructors: Chih-Hung Chang, Northwestern University, USA and Bryce Reeve, National Cancer Institute, USA

There is a great need in health outcomes research to develop instruments or assessment tools that can accurately measure a person’s health status with minimal response burden. This need for psychometrically sound and clinically meaningful measures calls for better analytical tools beyond the methods available from traditional measurement theory. Applications of item response theory (IRT) modeling have increased considerably because of its utility for instrument development and evaluation, assessment of measurement equivalence, instrument linking, item banking, and computerized adaptive testing. IRT models the relationship, in probabilistic terms, between a person’s response to a survey question and their standing on a health construct (e.g., fatigue or depression) being measured. This information allows instrument developers to create reliable and efficient quality of life measures tailored for an individual or group specific applications. This introductory workshop will discuss the basics of IRT models and applications of these models to improve health outcomes measurement. Illustrations from empirical data will be used throughout the presentation that focuses on measuring key health-related quality of life domains in different disease populations.  Level: Advanced

Workshop 15
Evaluating Change in Health-Related Quality of Life Measures
Conference Room G
Instructor: Kathleen Wyrwich, Saint Louis University, USA

Although numerous measures have been developed for the evaluation of health related quality of life (HRQoL), strategies for identifying meaningful change in these measures have not kept pace with instrument development. As a result, clinical trial researchers, quality assurance assessment teams, practicing clinicians, and patients are without established standards to evaluate change in HRQoL measures. This course will review, critique and compare the methods that have been applied to establish HRQoL change standards, which include anchor- and distribution-based techniques. Practical approaches to improving and advancing HRQoL change evaluations that enhance the interpretation of change, as well as a review of controversies that have developed will be provided. In addition, the course will explore future qualitative and quantitative challenges in this area of HRQoL research, and current regulatory guidelines for demonstrating important change in patient-reported outcomes.  Level: Advanced

Workshop 16
Advanced Psychometric Methods, Part 2: Executing and Interpreting Exploratory and Confirmatory Factor Analyses in PRO Instrument Development and Evaluation
Windsor East
Instructors: Donald Stull and Margaret Vernon, United BioSource Corporation, USA

This half-day workshop will build on Advanced Psychometric Methods, Part 1 by presenting results from examples of exploratory and confirmatory factor analyses; executing live, interactive analyses; and interpreting results of output, particularly for confirmatory factor analyses and structural equation models. We will work through examples of analyses by presenting hypothesized models, discussing key analytic criteria (e.g., sample size, factor loading size, extraction, rotation, key parameter estimates, cross-loadings and correlated errors, model specification and identification, fit indices, indications of model misfit), and how to interpret output. Annotated examples will be presented from output from selected software (e.g., SAS, Stata, EQS, and Mplus), but the issues are relevant regardless of the users software.  Level: Advanced

9:00am–10:30am
Opening Session
Grand Ballroom Centre

Welcome from Toronto
Mayor David Miller, City of Toronto

Welcome from the Conference Chairs
Nancy Mayo, PhD and Dorcas Beaton, PhD

Welcome from the President
Madeleine King, PhD

Keynote Address: “From Measurement to Understanding – the Evolution and Revolution of Quality of Life Research”
Presenter: Claire Bombardier, PhD
Claire Bombardier, rheumatologist, clinical epidemiologist and pioneer in quality of life research, will share with us her perspective on the evolution of quality of life measurement over the last few decades, and what she feels is also its current re-volution - returning to its roots to discern the meaning of these scales. Claire is a leader in quality of life scale development and testing, as well as now holding a research chair in knowledge translation where she holds a keen interest on the interpretability of quality of life measures in clinical practice. We welcome her as the keynote address for the conference and look forward to her leading us into our conference’s theme....from Measurement to Understanding.

10:30am–11:00am
Break and Meet the Authors Poster Session
Grand Ballroom East/Foyer
Poster numbers 1 through 93 are on display today, and can be found on pages A-41 through A-69 of the Abstract booklet.

11:00am–12:30pm
Plenary Panel: “Quality of Life Research in Non-mainstream Populations”
Grand Ballroom Centre
Presenters: Anita Hubley, PhD; Stephen W. Hwang, MD, MPH and Janet Smylie, PhD
Discussant: Donna Lamping, PhD
This panel will address the question “what does ‘measuring QOL’ mean when you are doing research on non-mainstream populations?” At times we may overlook the non-mainstream parts of our population when we describe or conduct quality of life research, or perhaps we don’t really appreciate what quality of life might mean in that population, and how it might be “mismeasured.” This session will challenge us to understand what quality of life research means when you are working with people(s) holding different cultural values, or who are dealing with very different frameworks when they appraise quality of life.
12:30pm–2:00pm
Lunch on Your Own/Special Interest Group Meetings

Quality of Life in Clinical Practice SIG, part 1
York Room

Translation Research SIG
Peel Room

Translation and Cultural Adaptation SIG
Civic Ballroom South

Quality of Life Research in Ibero-America SIG
Norfolk Room

2:00pm–3:30pm
Concurrent Sessions

Oral Session: Methodological Issues in Applying QoL Measurement
Grand Ballroom West

Chair: Janet Jeffrey, RN, PhD

1296/Beyond Standard Quality of Life Measures: The Subjective Experiences of Living With Inflammatory Bowel Disease
Barat Wolfe, Fuschia M. Sirois, Psychology, University of Windsor, Windsor, Ontario, Canada

1583/Cumulative Probability Plots: A Visual Summary of Patient Benefit Due to Therapy
Carol M. Moinpour, Public Health Sciences, Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center, Seattle, WA, Gary W. Donaldson, Anesthesiology, University of Utah Health Sciences Center, Salt Lake City, Utah, Astra M. Liepa, Global Health Outcomes, Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Indiana, Allen S. Melemed, Global Health Outcomes, Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, Indiana, Joyce O’Shaughnessy, Baylor-Sammons Cancer Center, US Oncology Research, Inc., Dallas, Texas, Kathy S. Albain, Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University Chicago, Chicago, Illinois

1642/How to apply MIC values of measurement instruments to individual patients in research and clinical practice
Henrica C. de Vet, Berend Terluin, EMGO Institute, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Leo D. Roorda, Rehabilitation Medicine, Jan van Breemen Institute, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Wieneke Mokkink, Raymond W. Ostelo, Dirk L. Knol, Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics, EMGO Institute, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Lex M. Bouter, VU University, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Caroline B. Terwee, EMGO Institute, Amsterdam, The Netherlands

1756/Regular Quality of Life (QOL) Measurement during Cancer Chemotherapy - Do Oncologists Need to Know?
Galina Velikova, Noha Awad, Adam B. Smith, Lyndsay Campbell, Sally Sheppard, Peter J. Selby, Cancer Research UK Centre, Leeds, University of Leeds, St James’s Hospital, Leeds, UK, Julia M. Brown, Clinical Trials and Research Unit, University of Leeds, Leeds, UK

1733/Health Related Quality of Life: A Measure of Health Care Provider performance?

Oral Session: Preference/Utilities: Meaning of the Measure
Civic Ballroom North

Chair: Allyson Jones, PhD

1736/Death is not a health state
Paul Kind, Centre for Health Economics, University of York, York, England

1769/Do SF-36 crosswalk algorithms predict utility-based index scores?
Robert M. Kaplan, Health Services, UCLA, Los Angeles, CA, Steven Tally, Family and Preventive Medicine, UCSD, La Jolla, CA, Janel Hamner, Dennis G. Fryback, Population Health Sciences, University of Wisconsin, Madison, WI

1793/Validity and Responsiveness of an EQ-5D Index Derived from the New US Preference Weights
James W. Shaw, Deparment of Pharmacy Administration, Ling Jin, Division of Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Susan Hughes, Rachel Seymour, Camille Fabiyi, Chiquia Coppage, Karumah Cosey, Institute for Health Research and Policy, University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, IL
1454/Modeling a preference-based measure of health
Lara N. Ferreira, Quantitative Methods, University of the Algarve, Faro, Portugal, Pedro L. Ferreira, Economics, CEISUC, University of Coimbra, Coimbra, Portugal, Luis N. Pereira, Quantitative Methods, University of the Algarve, Faro, Portugal

1791/Perceived Risk of Alzheimer’s Disease (AD) and Willingness to Pay for Prevention of AD
Sukyung Chung, Psychiatry, UCSF, San Francisco, CA

Oral Session: QoL Assessment in the Cognitively Impaired
Civic Ballroom South
Chair: Donald Patrick, PhD

1243/What constitutes Quality of Life for People with Cognitive Impairment and Dementia?
Ramona Lucas Carrasco, Institut de l’Enveliment, Universitat Autonoma de Barcelona, Barcelona, Spain, Sara Domenech Pou, Institut de l’Enveliment, Universitat Autonoma de Barcelona, Rosa Monteserin Nadal, CAP, EAP Sardenya

1785/Developing an Outcome Measurement Suite for Dementia
Jan Sansoni, Nicholas Marosszeky, Emily Sansoni, Australian Health Outcomes Collaboration, CHSD, University of Wollongong, Wollongong, NSW, Australia, Madeleine King, Centre for Health Economics Research & Evaluation, University of Technology, Sydney, NSW, Australia

1339/Understanding Change in Quality of Life in Dementia
Kritika Samsi, Joanna Murray, Sube Banerjee, Health Service and Population Research Department, Institute of Psychiatry, London, UK

1375/Can we improve well-being for people with dementia by providing person-centred nursing care?
Madeleine T. King, CHERE, UTS, Lynn Chenoweth, Health & Ageing Research Unit, SESAHs, Henry Brodaty, Dementia CRC, UNSW, Yun-Hee Jeon, Australian Primary Health Care Research Institute, ANU, Jane Stein-Parbury, Mental Health Nursing, SESAHs, Marion Haas, CHERE, UTS, Georgina Luscombe, Brain & Mind Research Institute, Univ Sydney, Richard Norman, CHERE, UTS

1441/Correlates of Quality of Life in Dementia Across the Disease Spectrum
Betty S. Black, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

Oral Session: Response Shift Phenomenon
Civic Ballroom Centre
Chair: Lena Ring, PhD

1815/Replication of a Structural Equation Modeling approach to detect response shift in participants of health education programs
Sandra Nolte, Gerald R. Elsworth, CIRCLE, RMIT University, Melbourne, VIC, Australia, Andrew J. Sinclair, Exercise and Nutrition Sciences, Deakin University, Burwood, VIC, Australia, Richard H. Osborne, Medicine, University of Melbourne, Parkville, VIC, Australia

1230/Small-cell Lung Cancer Patients are Just “A Little Bit Tired”: Response Shift and Self-Presentation in the Measurement of Fatigue
Marjan Westerman, Anne-Mei The, Public and Occupational Health, EMGO Institute, VU University Medical Centre, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Mirjam Sprangers, Medical Psychology, Academic Medical Centre, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Harry Groen, Pulmonary Diseases, University Hospital, Groningen, The Netherlands, Gerrit van der Wal, Public and Occupational Health, EMGO Institute, VU University Medical Centre, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Tony Hak, RSM, Erasmus University, Rotterdam, The Netherlands

1855/Response shift and measurement bias
Frans J. Oort, Medical Psychology, Academic Medical Centre, University of Amsterdam

1538/A framework for assessing response shift in post-stroke health related quality of life over multiple time points
Ruth E. Barclay-Goddard, Lisa M. Lix, Community Health Sciences, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, Nancy E. Mayo, Clinical Epidemiology, Sharon Wood-Dauphinee, School of Physical and Occupational Therapy, McGill University, Montreal, Quebec, Canada, Tate Robert, Community Health Sciences, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada

1401/Detecting Response Shift in Using Rasch Analysis of Then Test Data
Carolyn E. Schwartz, Julia F. Martha, Bryan Swaim, Orthopedics, New England Baptist Hospital, Boston, MA, Rita Bode, Center for Rehabilitation Outcome Research, Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, Elmwood Park, IL, David H. Kim, Orthopedics, New England Baptist Hospital, Boston, MA

Symposium 1490: Meaning and Measurement: The Use of Mixed Methods in Health-Related Quality of Life Research
Grand Ballroom West

Presenters: Elaine McColl, Elaine McColl, Newcastle Clinical Trials Unit, Newcastle University, Newcastle upon Tyne, UK, Clare Robertson, Health Services Research Unit, University of Aberdeen, Aberdeen, Scotland, UK, Sally Stapley, Health Sciences, University of York, Heslington, York, UK, Steven Hope, Psychology, City University, London, UK

Individual Abstract Number: 1631
Mixed Methods Research and Health-Related Quality of Life
Elaine McColl, Newcastle Clinical Trials Unit, Newcastle University

Individual Abstract Number: 1637
Cognitive Interviewing Techniques: A Useful Inclusion for Measuring Health Related Quality of Life
Clare Robertson, Health Services Research Unit, University of Aberdeen, Anne L. Langston, Edinburgh Clinical Trials Unit, University of Edinburgh, Sally Stapley, Department of Health Sciences, University of York, Elaine McColl, Newcastle Clinical Trials Unit, Newcastle University, Marion K. Campbell, Health Services Research Unit, University of Aberdeen, Stuart H. Ralston, Molecular Medicine Centre, University of Edinburgh, Peter Fayers, Public Health, University of Aberdeen, for the PRISM trial group, Molecular Medicine Centre, University of Edinburgh

Individual Abstract Number: 1739
An Integrative Research Framework for the Investigation of Health-Related Quality of Life
Steven Hope, Department of Psychology, City University, London, United Kingdom

Individual Abstract Number: 1721
Comprehension, judgement strategies and QRV (Question-Induced Response Variation): implications for longitudinal HrQOL assessments and response shift
Sally Stapley, Health Sciences, University of York, Elaine M. McColl, Newcastle Clinical Trials Unit, John Bond, Institute of Health and Society, University of Newcastle

Symposium 1449: Patient-reported outcomes in patients with rheumatoid arthritis: from methodology to clinical application to policy
Grand Ballroom Centre

Presenters: Francis Guillemin, School of Public Health, Faculty of medicine, Vandoeuvre-les-nancy, France, francis guillemin, school of public health, faculty of medicine, Nancy-University, Vandoeuvre-les-nancy, France, Tatyana I. Ionova, Multinational Center for Quality of Life Research, St.Petersburg, Russia, Andrei A. Novik, Hematology and Cellular Therapy, National Medical Surgical Center, Moscow, Russia, Theodore G. Ganiats, Health Services Research Center, University of California San Diego, La Jolla, CA

Individual Abstract Number: 1630
From PRO to decision-making paradigm for rheumatoid arthritis treatment
Andrei A. Novik, Hematology and Cellular Therapy, National Medical Surgical Center

Individual Abstract Number: 1450
Towards an optimal QOL measurement strategy in patients with rheumatoid arthritis
Francis Guillemin, School of Public Health, Faculty of medicine, Nancy-University, Vandoeuvre-les-nancy, France

Individual Abstract Number: 1474
Symptom assessment in patients with rheumatoid arthritis
Tatyana I. Ionova, Multinational Center for Quality of Life Research, St. Petersburg, Russia, Andrei A. Novik, Tatyana V. Mesenova, Hematology and Cellular Therapy, National Pirogov Medical Surgical Center, Anton V. Kishtovich, Multinational Center for Quality of Life Research, Denis A. Fedorenko, Hematology and Cellular Therapy, National Pirogov Medical Surgical Center

Individual Abstract Number: 1632
Policy Implications of PRO Data in RA Patients
Theodore G. Ganiats, Health Services Research Center, University of California San Diego
5:30pm–6:30pm
Industry Advisory Committee Meeting
Peel Room
Representatives from pharmaceutical, medical device and related industries are invited to attend this meeting, which will focus on the Committee’s goals.

2008 Conference Planning Meeting
Norfolk Room
Plans for next year’s meeting, to be held October 22-26, 2008, in Montevideo, Uruguay will be the topic of this meeting. All interested individuals are invited to attend!

6:30pm–7:30pm
Mentor/Mentee Reception
Simcoe+Dufferin Room (Rooms 10&11 on Floor Plan, page 67)
Individuals who have registered for this program are invited to attend this reception. If you would like to participate, but have not registered to be either a mentor or a mentee, please visit the ISOQOL Registration Desk.

Plenary Session: “Models for Measurement”
Grand Ballroom Centre
Presenters: Ciaran O’Boyle, PhD and Alan Jette, PhD
Discussant: Sharon Wood-Dauphinee, PhD
This session will help participants integrate the measures we use, and how they operate within a theoretical framework. Dr. Jette will discuss his work with multi-attribute models like the Verbrugge framework or the ICF, and the implications of how we would use these in quality of life research. Dr. O’Boyle will discuss his work on individualized quality of life which takes a different approach to understanding the measurement of quality of life. What are the implications of these models for quality of life research?

10:30am–11:00am
Break and Meet the Authors Poster Session
Grand Ballroom East/Foyer
Poster numbers 94 through 197 are on display today, and can be found on pages A-69 through A-101 of the Abstract booklet.

Plenary Session
Grand Ballroom Centre

Plenary Address: “Methods for Meaning”
Presenters: Kathy Lohr, PhD, and Les Castro, PhD
Discussant: David Cella, PhD

This session will focus on methods to improve our understanding of quality of life and patient reported outcomes. Dr. Lohr will address how PROMIS has sought to measure large populations of people to calibrate scales across major disease groups and bring meaning to our measurement through this type of large data collection approach. Dr. Castro will speak from his experience with data capture in a clinical practice, and how it can be used to improve quality of care, and delivery of important information to the patient-clinician interaction.

President’s Award: “Seven Things I’ve Learned about Health Outcomes Research”
Presenter: Dennis Revicki, PhD

11:00am–11:30am
Break and Meet the Authors Poster Session
Grand Ballroom East/Foyer
Poster numbers 198 through 291 are on display today, and can be found on pages A-101 through A-131 of the Abstract booklet.

11:30am–1:00pm
Concurrent Oral Sessions

Oral Session: QoL as Predictor and Outcome in Cancer
Grand Ballroom West
Chair: Andrea Bezjak, PhD

Advancing Health Outcomes Research
Methods and Clinical Applications

Edited by William R. Lenderking & Dennis A. Revicki

ISOQOL is pleased to offer a volume of invited papers from the recent Symposium "Stating the Art: Advancing Outcomes Research Methodology and Clinical Applications," which captures the heterogeneity, science, and creativity of our field.

The papers are not direct transcripts the talks presented, but rather chapters inspired by the presentations delivered at the Symposium. In organizing this symposium, we sought to create a program that illuminated the state of the art of health outcomes research from the perspectives of statistical methodology, clinical applications, and theory. Rather than attempting to cover the entire breadth of the field, our aim was to invite leading investigators and thinkers in their field of specialization. The end result is this volume, which will be available at the price of $80 for ISOQOL members and $95 for non-members. Bulk discounts are available for orders of 100 copies or more. For more details, please visit www.isoqol.org, or call the ISOQOL Executive Office at 703-556-9222, or email info@isoqol.org.

Translation & Formatting Services

We Translate PRO Measures & Clinical Trial Documents

You demand perfection, on time. So do we.

In a recent client survey, you told us that global clinical trials are becoming even more demanding, with tighter deadlines and frequent changes, while still requiring complete accuracy.

You need:
• Poolable patient reported outcomes data;
• Documentation for regulatory compliance;
• Flexibility in dealing with mid-trial changes.

Our team of project managers and linguistic experts will tailor the project to your needs every step of the way, from quotation to delivery. Our scientific approach to translation of PRO measures, first developed for FACIT translations by CORE researchers, includes cognitive interviewing and comprehensive documentation. The resulting translated measures are conceptually equivalent, as well as cross-culturally valid, which effectively facilitates data pooling in multinational clinical trials for regulatory submission.

Translation & Formatting Services
We translate from paper, digital files, ePRO, IVR and item banks to the format of your choice.
• Cultural adaptation of patient reported outcomes measures: quality of life, activities of daily living, functional status, treatment satisfaction, patient preferences
• Resource utilization measures, study instructions, consent forms, diaries
• CRF design, formatting and proofreading for multilingual trials
• Educational seminars, workshops and presentations

Testing, Documentation & Certification Services
We test translated or adapted questionnaires for linguistic validity and harmonization between languages.
• Cognitive debriefing
• Psychometric testing and analysis
• Translation reports and certification documents

NEW! PRO Instrument Developer Services
We help PRO developers design, translate and manage copyright and licensing for efficient global distribution while protecting the integrity of the instrument.

Help Create the Evidence that Matters

We are seeking highly qualified and motivated Senior Health Outcomes Researchers to join our expanding international team.

We are looking for innovative researchers with experience in:
- Health utilities & preference assessment
- Patient-reported outcomes
- Instrument development & psychometric evaluation
- Data interpretation & dissemination
- Research presentations & publications, and
- Building & fostering client relations.

ClinPhone is the world’s leading Clinical Technology Organization (CTO) with an unrivaled track record of innovation in the development of clinical trial technology. Powered by our leading IVR/IWR technology, ClinPhone ePRO is an intuitive and easy-to-use solution for capturing patient self-reported data ranging from simple diaries to validated instruments.

ClinPhone ePRO is used by outcomes researchers to collect Patient Reported Outcomes in Phase I – IV clinical trials and for disease management programs. This method of collecting ePRO data is well accepted by a broad range of patient populations including the elderly and juveniles, and has been accepted by FDA as a New Drug Application primary endpoint.

As industry leaders, ClinPhone enjoys established relationships with many disorder-specific and HRQL instrument developers. To meet the growing needs of our customers, we are seeking to expand our list of PRO instruments. If you are an instrument developer, we invite you to discuss the options for development and validation of electronic versions of your instrument(s) with us.

United BioSource Corporation

Our work is someone’s hope.
Join us.

MRL Epidemiology - Improving research to assess patient outcomes. Our mission is the scientific study of disease, endpoints and patient outcomes to evaluate the benefits and risks of our products. At Merck, we pride ourselves on meeting patient expectations – leveraging the most complete data and a strong cohesive effort to make the products that make life better.

Our Epidemiology Department represents that kind of diligence, establishing safety and efficacy claims through innovative approaches to medical development. We provide epidemiologic and outcomes research for all Merck drugs and vaccines. Using existing information, database analyses and conducting epidemiology studies across the globe, we characterize disease natural history for new therapeutic areas, assist in clinical trial design based on the epidemiology of the disease, link biomarkers to outcomes and help understand the safety of our products pre- and post-launch. Our team is an active member of clinical development and outcomes research teams.

Merck is a global research-driven pharmaceutical company dedicated to putting patients first in all we do. That philosophy was first articulated by George Merck and it still guides us today. Join our Epidemiology Department and participate in our investigative design and interpretation that enable us to bring life-enhancing products to market. Visit merck.com/careers to find out how.

Merck is an equal opportunity employer, M/F/D/V – proudly embracing diversity in all of its manifestations.

QualityMetric Scientists in the Spotlight

Four members of our science team are presenting research findings at the 14th Annual Meeting of the International Society for Quality of Life Research in Toronto. Please join us in congratulating them for their hard work and dedication to the field of patient-reported outcomes.

- Renee N. Saris-Baglama, PhD, Senior Scientist – Preliminary Steps to Develop a Computerized Adaptive Test for Measuring Health Related Quality of Life in Chronic Kidney Disease
- Milena D. Anatchkova, PhD, Scientist – Development of a Computer Adaptive Test for Heart Failure Patients
- Anastasia E. Raczek, MEd, Senior Scientist – Development of a Computerized Assessment of Physical Functioning for Children
- Diane M. Turner-Bowker, PhD, Senior Scientist – A Bibliographic Database for the SF-36® Health Survey and Applying Usability Heuristics to Evaluate the Headache-CAT, a Computerized Adaptive Test of Headache Impact

To discuss these topics in more detail during the conference, please leave a message at the hotel’s front desk for Drs. Saris-Baglama or Turner-Bowker. They would be happy to set up a time to meet with you.
